FIRST ONLINE HEALTH RECORD FOR CHILDREN

MCKESSON AND SMART HEALTH JOIN FORCES IN AUSTRALIA
AND NEW ZEALAND TO DEVELOP AUSTRALIA'S FIRST ONLINE
ELECTRONIC HEALTH RECORD FOR CHILDREN.

McKesson Asia-Pacific and Smart Health have signed a product distribution agreement for Australia and New Zealand. The companies are a good fit with complementary product offerings.

"We have long had an interest in the shared Electronic Health Record potential of Smart Health. It is complimentary to our core business of health advice and care management using health call centres and the need for it has arrived. We have known Smart Health for several years now and their customers talk highly of their product and capabilities.", said Dr Matthew Cullen, Co-President McKesson Asia-Pacific.

"Smart Health has developed a strong working relationship with McKesson and we are proud to be partnering with the world's largest healthcare services and technology company. The two companies work well together and have similar market and customer service objectives. We are very enthusiastic about the current project developing an online Children's Health Record and we expect it to be a lead site for shared Electronic Health Records in this region," commented Peter Flower, Managing Director of Smart Health Solutions.
